

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE FIRST SIX MONTHS IN 2017

The initial 02 quarters of 2017 secured remarkable growth rate for SAGS at Tan Son Nhat Int'l Airport and Da Nang Int'l Airport.

REGULAR FLIGHTS

In May 2017, Australia-based Jetstar Airways (JQ) has launched direct daily flights from both Melbourne and Sydney to Ho Chi Minh City by the modern Dreamliner B787-8 to cater to soaring travel demand. Travelers could have better options to fly to either major hubs in Australia with very competitive air fares.

Boarding Gate Set-up - JQ

Ramp Services - JQ

June 2017 witnessed Thai AirAsia (FD) expanding business to Da Nang International Airport by operating daily flights using Airbus A320 with 180 seats linking Bangkok to the vibrant Da Nang City, Vietnam. The airport has delivered the impressive water salute to welcome the maiden flight. With FD in operations at this airport, AirAsia Group Airlines rank among the highest flight frequency operators in Vietnam.

Welcoming - FD

MORE FREQUENCY, DESTINATIONS & FREIGHTER OPERATIONS

In the initial 02 quarters, we have welcomed both Aerologic (3S) and Cardig Air (8F) re-suming regular freighter flights to Tan Son Nhat Airport (SGN) by Boeing B777F and B737F respectively. 3S is now connecting Frankfurt to Ho Chi Minh City once a week and 8F, with the frequency of 10 flights weekly, carries both general and express cargo to / from the region to Vietnam.

Air New Zealand (NZ) – the flag carrier of New Zealand – re-launches Auckland – Ho Chi Minh City route with the extraordinary new Boeing B787-9 (302 seats). This is the first time that we service this new type of aircraft at Tan Son Nhat Int'l Airport. In-depth training and preparations have been well coordinated and executed for the assigned handling team.

Ramp Services - NZ

Korea-based airlines including Air Busan (BX), Jin Air (LJ), T'way Air (TW) also mount more frequency to current destinations as well as introduce new hot locations such as Daegu to Da Nang City.

Malaysia AirAsia (AK) increases operations to daily flights to Da Nang Airport bringing more chances for passengers to travel within the Southeast Asia region. The AirAsia Group is now operating all Airbus A320 in Vietnam.

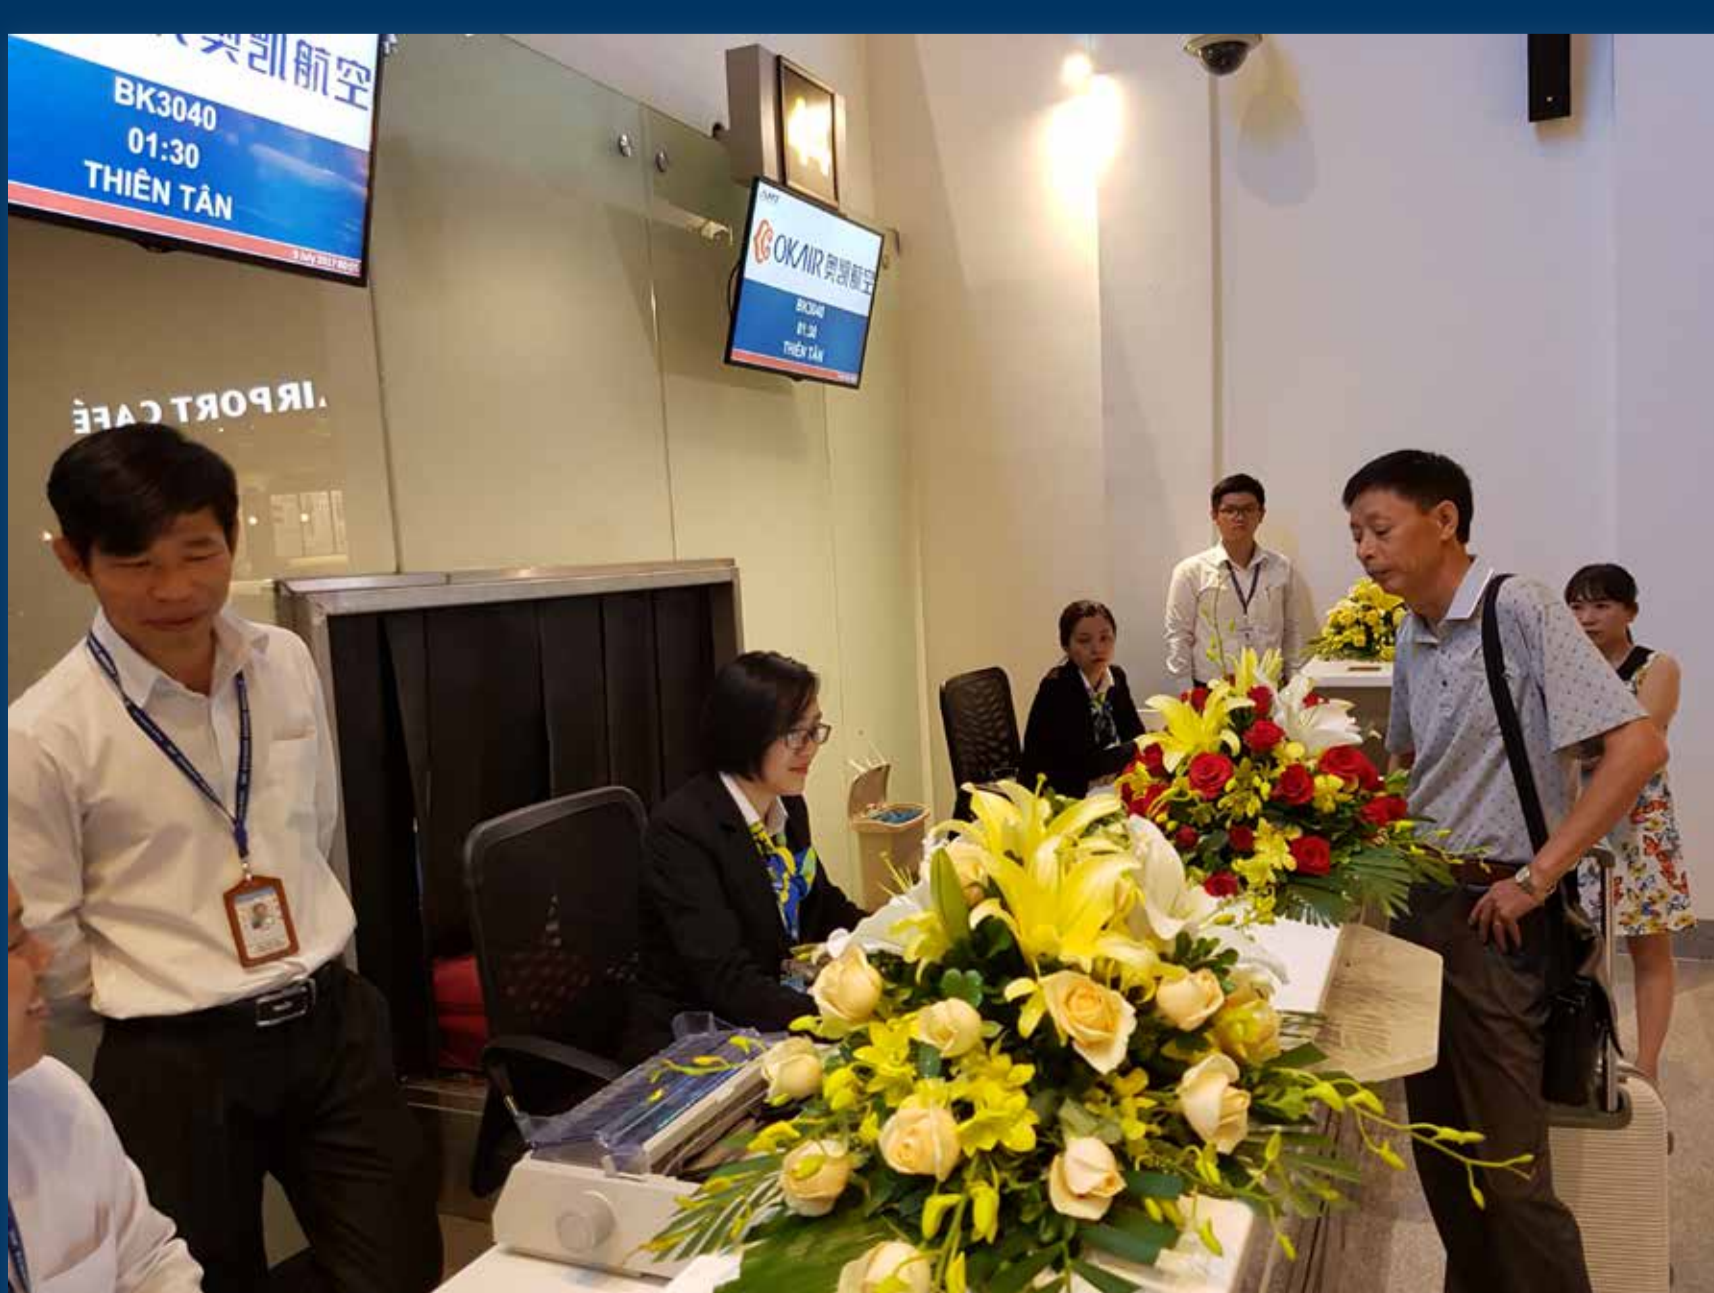

Welcoming - TW

CHARTER BUSINESS

JC International Airlines (QD) – the young and dynamic carrier from Cambodia - started some charter flights from Siem Riep to Ho Chi Minh City by Airbus A320. Tan Son Nhat Int'l Airport is among the latest overseas destinations for the carrier.

China-based Okay Airways (BK) introduces Tianjin – Da Nang City route by Boeing B737. The route is expected to boost overall tourism traffic from China to Vietnam.

All flights have been safely and smoothly handled by SAGS.

Check-in Services - BK